Use Tyree's Antiseptic Powder

It is safe, sure and powerful. The danger in using bicarbonate of soda, carbolic acid, salicylic acid and other so-called antiseptic powders is entirely absent with the use of TYREE'S ANTISEPTIC POWDER. It is as harmless as sterilized water, and as effective as the most potent antiseptic germicide. It instantly relieves irritation, itching, inflammation of the delicate tissues and soothes them. IT HEALS AND PREVENTS.

A recent box of TYREE'S ANTISEPTIC POWDER makes two gallons of sterilized water. It is always ready for immediate use. UNRIVALLED AS A DOUGHER.

TYREE'S ANTISEPTIC POWDER

FROM PEGGY TO POLLY.

Dearest Polly:

This week has not been so terribly gay though it is true there has been something to take us out almost every night but the afternoons and mornings have been quite free of social engagements. A part of this is in sympathy for the bereavement of Mrs. C. S. Holloway and her son, Francis Brown, who is so popular with the younger folks. Mr. Holloway's death was a shock to everyone. The Jones calico ball was postponed until next Monday evening. That is going to be a very wonderful affair, I am told, and from the very outrageous costumes that are being designed and fussed over, I believe it will be a very picturesque party.

The dance at the Country Club by Col. and Mrs. Charles Bromwell for their daughter Mildred, on Monday evening, was certainly a jolly affair. You know there are some parties where absolutely every one has a good time and I think this was one of them. At any rate all I have heard this week from the younger girls was, "Didn't we have a good time at Mildred's" and "I wish there'd be more parties like them."

Do you know that old fashioned "Bacon Bats" are coming in vogue again. Perhaps the generation of today, having had everything new, are reaching out for something different, even if it is 100 years old. Next time we hear about will be a barn dance with tallow candles and a fiddler sitting on a box in one corner of the room to furnish lively dances. And they'll be dancing Paul Jones and barn dances and a Virginia reel. But to go back to the "Bacon Bat." That's what they are called in Good Housekeeping Magazine but for all that they might be called steak parties. You know the kind, where you go "way off to the beach or the mountains with a big juicy steak and some rich home-made bread and butter and cook the steak over the fire on a sharp-pointed stick. (Have on, fair one, have on!) A dandy place for that sort of thing and where most people go for their steak parties is around Diamond Head, right under the lighthouse. There is a beautiful bench there and on a moonlit night it is simply perfect.

The Eric Knudsen house-party, which is being given at their home on Kaula from the fourth to the fourteenth of August, is taking most of the young people away. They leave next Wednesday in the steamer W. G. Hall and return in that noble craft two weeks after. A number of the girls are deathly afraid of being seasick and the boys seem to delight in telling jokes on seasick people. Poor girls, I'm sorry for them if they do get sick for the boys will just about tease the life out of them.

Ruth Anderson and Pauline Schaefer left in the Matsonia on Wednesday and really there is an awful shortage in girls this summer, as it is. You know it is generally the other way, but with so many masculine visitors the girls are just about "swamped." At the dances there are generally six or eight, at least, men who are sitting out when every girl is dancing and they stand around at the entrance to "cut in" on the partners they want. "Cutting in" is fun and sometimes the girls have three and four partners for one dance. There are generally three encores to a dance. And oh, speaking of dancing—the Castle walk has at last arrived. Perhaps a little late, but none the less popular. I must say that it looks like a whole lunatic asylum but nevertheless a comfortable easy-going dance and that seems to be what the dancers are looking for now. And there is a new fox-trot which is very popular, being much simpler than the one first brought to Honolulu.

Polly, pretty soon men, strangers to Honolulu or otherwise, are going to be afraid to look at the girls here for fear they will be engaged to them. Quite a pretty little girl here just about announced her engagement to all of her friends in the city and told them the name of her fiance and said that the betrothal would be announced on the return of the gentleman. The gentleman has returned. He went up the other night to some girls and asked them if they had said that he was engaged. They all denied the fact and he denied the engagement. He would not believe that they had not done it in a joke and became rather peevish when one of the girls who was being blamed particularly said, "What would you say if the girl told it herself?" "My word," he said, but perhaps thought a stronger phrase. He then stated that it was "pretty tough luck to be engaged to every girl you took out and to have the girl herself announce it, was worse." Far be it from me to be a gossip, Peggy, but there are some things which are absolutely too good to keep to myself.

I must tell you of another fad of the younger generation. Walking, and what is more, walking at 5 o'clock in the morning. And more than that with your best beau, no matter how far away he lives. Isn't that thrilling? Why, one boy who lives way out in the Punahoa district left his home at half-past 4 in the morning to be able to walk with a girl, a pretty girl, who lives in Nuuanu, at 5. Isn't that devotion for you? And some of them take to the beach and declare that there isn't anything more invigorating than a swim at 5:30 in the morning. Oh, for the energy of youth!

Polly, dear, I wish you'd write more often. Really, a camel can go eight days without water but who wants to be a camel? I really like a letter once in a while.

Love,

PEGGY.

FT. SHAFTER SOCIETY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
FORT SHAFTER, July 31.—Capt. and Mrs. Franklin P. Jackson, 1st Infantry, have been house-guests of Capt. and Mrs. Lincoln for several days.

One of the prettiest bridge parties of the season was given at the quarters of Capt. and Mrs. Clyde E. Parker in the cantonment at Fort Shafter on the evening of July 29 (Thursday). The party was given in honor of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. J. B. McDonald, who are to leave shortly for the Philippines. The house was charmingly decorated in pink and this color predominated in table decorations. At the end of the bridge playing all were served a most delicious plate luncheon. Prizes were awarded Mrs. Nichols, a beautiful Japanese lantern; Mrs. Lenihan, a silk Oriental work bag; and Mrs. McDonald was given the ladies' guest prize, a dainty ivory hat pin. Prizes awarded the gentlemen were given to Maj. Gose, a bridge set; Col. Ebert, bridge counters, and the gentlemen's guest prize went to Col. McDonald, two packs of playing cards. The guests of the evening were: Col. Ebert, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. J. B. McDonald, Maj. and Mrs. Lenihan, Maj. and Mrs. Gose, Lieut. and Mrs. Nichols, Col. and Mrs. French, Capt. and Mrs. Phisterer, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. B. W. Atkinson, Mr. Randolph, Capt. and Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Johnson, Lieut. and Mrs. Preston, Capt. and Mrs. Harker, Capt. and Mrs. Cochran, Capt. and Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. Malone, Lieut. Abraham, Miss Gertrude Malone, Miss Elizabeth Rosenbaum.

On Monday evening ladies' night at the 2d Infantry Club there were five tables of bridge. Mrs. Greene was hostess for the evening. Those present were Capt. and Mrs. Cochran, Capt. and Mrs. Harker, Capt. and Mrs. Lincoln, Capt. and Mrs. Gibbs, Capt. and Mrs. Bell, Lieut. and Mrs. Greene, Lieut. and Mrs. Richardson, Miss Richardson, Mrs. Lenihan, Mrs. Mathews, Mrs. Johnson and Lieut. Wright. First prize was awarded Lieut. Wright—a very pretty nest of baskets.

Lieut. and Mrs. J. A. McAndrew entertained Sunday evening with a buffet supper. The guests were Lieut. and Mrs. Mathews, Lieut. and Mrs. Sloan, Capt. Creighton of Schofield Barracks, Capt. Mudd, Medical Corps; Miss Halloran, Lieut. Halloran, Jones and Lyman. After supper the party motored to the Moana to attend the concert.

Miss Gertrude Malone entertained the younger crowd on Sunday evening at supper. Those present were Lieut. and Mrs. Greene, Miss Katherine Lenihan, Miss Lucy Webb, Miss Dorothy Harker, Miss Elizabeth Rosenbaum, Lieut. Sanguera, Silverster, Camp, Folhemus and Dr. DeBer.

Lieut. and Mrs. J. B. Richardson entertained on Sunday evening for Capt. and Mrs. Knowles, Lieut. and Mrs. Preston, Lieut. and Mrs. Manchester, Lieut. and Mrs. Crystal and Lieut. Lyman. After the supper all journeyed to the Moana to listen to the concert.

Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. B. W. Atkinson entertained at dinner on Wednesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Randolph of Charleston, S. C. The guests included Col. and Mrs. French, Governor Pinkham, Dr. C. B. Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Syanzy.

Lieut. and Mrs. D. T. Greene gave a dinner on Wednesday evening for Mr. Katherine Lenihan and Lieut. A. K. B. Lyman.

Capt. and Mrs. Cochran entertained Wednesday evening at dinner for Maj. and Mrs. Gose of Schofield Barracks.

Miss Lucy Webb of Alexandria, Virginia, was a guest of Capt. and Mrs. Cochran for several days last week.

SCHOFIELD SOCIETY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, July 31.—Miss Welcome Ayer was the hostess on Tuesday evening at a jolly hop-supper which took place before the 1st Infantry informal hop, at Castner. The 16 guests were seated at small tables, attractively decorated, and between courses the gentlemen changed tables. Present were the Misses Laura Williams, Anne Carpenter, Ruth Barclay, Constance Ayer, Lieut. and Mrs. Franklin Rice, Lieut. and Mrs. John Hinemon, Lieut. and Mrs. Jesse Ladd, Lieut. James Little, Halg Shekergian, Carl Fesnes, Eugene Fales, V. V. Enyart and Mrs. Clark Fales.

Last Friday an attractive dinner was given by Dr. and Mrs. Albert White, who entertained for Maj. and Mrs. Gideon Van Poole, Capt. and Mrs. Geo. Apple and Dr. and Mrs. Jay Whitman. Pink carnations and maidenhair ferns made a dainty combination in the centerpiece, while the candle shades and place cards reflected the pink tints. Later the party attended the formal hop in the pavilion.

Mrs. Davis, wife of Capt. Davis, Medical Corps, was the over-night guest of Capt. and Mrs. George Apple, for Wednesday and Thursday, and was the guest of honor at the dinner given by Mrs. Apple on Wednesday evening. The table was artistically decorated with a graceful arrangement of yellow daisies and ferns, around which covers were placed for Mrs. Davis, Capt. and Mrs. Campbell King, Capt. and Mrs. Arthur Cassels and Capt. and Mrs. Apple.

A very pleasant and greatly enjoyed bridge party occurred on Wednesday, when Mrs. Gideon Van Poole entertained for 40 ladies of the garrison. A number of progressions of the fascinating game were played with Meadames Davis, Kennon, Holcomb and Day winning the high scores for the afternoon. The first prize was a pair of silk boudoir candle shades, the second was a pair of embroidered guest towels, as was also the third. A delicious salad course was served at the close of the afternoon, with Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Chitty presiding at the tea table. Those present were Meadames John Wisser, L. W. V. Kennon, Madame McCleave, William Cruikshank, Frank Hopkins, John O'Shea, Albert White, William Gano, Jesse Ladd, Percy Deshon, Seth Cook, Clyde Crusan, John Fair, Franklin Rice, Robert Donaldson, John Hatch, Neal Wood, Sue Holcomb, Irene Farrell, Alexander Milton, Walter Kendall, George Bailey, Edmund Butts, Chalmers Hall, Arthur Cassels, Geo. Appel, Harry Wells, William Chitty, Pelham Glassford, Nellie Carleton, Madame Bougardier, Callender, Chas. Everitt, Harry Malone, William Dodds, George Gay and Clarence Day.

Mrs. William Mapes gave a dinner for 20 guests on Friday evening before the 25th Infantry hop. The party was seated at a number of small tables each decorated with brown wicker baskets filled with yellow and white daisies, the yellow note being carried out in the fluffy tulle bows airily perched on the handles of the baskets. Yellow silk shades on the candles further reflected the color scheme. Present were the Misses Hazel Harrison, Anne Carpenter, Maj. and Mrs. Edmund Butts, Capt. and Mrs. Americus Mitchell, Capt. and Mrs. Charles Willard, Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Harbold, Lieut. and Mrs. Donald Hay, Lieut. and Mrs. Walter Frank, Lieut. Carl Spatz and Sheldon Wheeler, and Capt. and Mrs. Mapes.

On Sunday evening the musical coterie was entertained by Lieut. and Mrs. William Gano. A program of delightful selections was given, which was followed by a delicious supper. This will be the last meeting of the club, as so many of the members are to leave Hawaii in the near future. Lieut. and Mrs. Meals and Lieut. and Mrs. Waldo Potter sailing on the next transport, and Lieut. Samuelson having already left for his new station on Alcatraz. Present at this affair were Capt. and Mrs. David Stone, Lieut. and Mrs. Charles Meals, Lieut. and Mrs. Waldo Potter, Lieut. and Mrs. Gano, Miss Ann Bell Farrington and Miss Irene Farrell.

Mrs. George Harrison was a luncheon hostess on Wednesday, entertaining for Miss Harrison, her house-guest. Those invited to meet her were Meadames Charles Meals, David Stone, John Hunt, Waldo Potter, Ivens Jones and Miss Anna Bell Farrington. The round table presented a pretty appearance in its decorations of pink carnations, shasta daisies and maidenhair ferns with the pink note echoed in the dainty place cards. After luncheon music became the order of the afternoon and the guests were delighted with a number of beautiful selections, given by Mrs. Meals, Miss Farrington and Mrs. Stone.

On Tuesday another delightful dinner was given by Mrs. Freeman, this one taking place at Heinle's Tavern. The table was lovely in its white decorations, white sweet peas and gardenias artistically combined forming the centerpiece, while radiating from this to each cover were streamers of white ribbons, tied to a dainty corsage bouquet for the ladies and a tiny buttnierie for the gentlemen. Present were Miss Gertrude Hopkins, Miss Louise Freeman, Mrs. W. W. Freeman, Mr. Bloomfield-Brown, Capt. S. S. Creighton and Lieut. Ballard Lyerly.

Miss Gertrude Hopkins returned to the post on Tuesday after a week spent with Mrs. W. W. Freeman at the Moana. On Sunday last Mrs. Freeman gave a dinner of six covers in honor of Miss Hopkins. Lavender sweet peas were used in profusion to decorate the table, around which were seated Miss Hopkins, Miss Louise Freeman, Mr. Eames, Lieut. Ballard Lyerly and Charles Haverkamp and Mrs. Freeman.

Mrs. Waldo Potter entertained informally on Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Nellie Carleton with a "porch party." Mrs. Louis McKinlay won the high score for the auction rubbers, and was given a dainty blotter; Miss Carleton was presented with a Japanese pin roll. Refreshing ice and cakes were served late in the afternoon, bringing to a close a very pleasant occasion.

On Tuesday evening a large contingent of Schofield people were present at Heinle's Tavern. One large party at Lieut. and Mrs. Richard Kimball's table included Lieut. and Mrs. Jerome Pillow, Lieut. and Mrs. Louis McKinlay, Lieut. and Mrs. William Gano, Lieut. and Mrs. Irene Jones.

Maj. and Mrs. William Cruikshank entertained at dinner on Friday for Capt. and Mrs. Frank Hopkins, Miss Gertrude Hopkins and Lieut. Kenny Palmer.

TO PREPARE CHICKENS.

After head, feet and feathers have been removed and fowl properly singed, scraped and washed, cut off wings and fold; cut off legs at thigh joint and disjoint knee. Then cut from point of breast down and backward to joint in back; disjoint and remove intestines and giblets. Then cut closely on each side of spine to joint on sides of neck; disjoint and remove crop and windpipe; then cut off wishbone; now on each side, from point of breast downward, the bone there is easily cut through, which removes the ribs. This leaves all the pieces perfectly flat so as to brown nicely when fried in skillet.
